Survey on Professional Affairs in Clinical Microbiology and Infectious Diseases

About the survey

The survey on professional affairs in Clinical Microbiology (CM) and Infectious Diseases (ID) in Europe aims at gathering and presenting data on how CM & ID are organized across Europe. It covers 34 countries in Europe, is annually updated and is freely available on the ESCMID website. The questionnaire was developed by ESCMID and the UEMS Sections of Infectious Diseases and Medical Microbiology.

What can you find?

General information, contacts and figures about CM & ID in the individual European countries

Lists of relevant national societies in CM & ID in Europe including contacts and websites

Outline of training curriculum in CM & ID, and required competences in European countries

Presentations of recognized specialties and subspecialties in the respective field and country

Status of continuing medical education (CME) in the respective field and country

Organization and staffing of microbiological / diagnostic labs and hospital wards in Europe

Which specialties / subspecialties are addressed?

- Mainly Clinical Microbiology and Infectious Diseases
- But also Clinical Bacteriology, Clinical Virology, Genitourinary Medicine, HIV Medicine, Tropical Medicine, Tuberculosis

Who can benefit from this data?

- Medical specialists in CM or ID on the move to work abroad
- Professionals interested in European integration of the medical specialties CM & ID
- Teachers thinking ahead of a commonly accepted training programme for CM & ID
- National authorities comparing the status quo in different countries
