

The European-Latin American-Caribbean Tuberculosis (EurolactTB) Consortium

Anandi MARTIN, Maria Jesus GARCIA, Juan Carlos PALOMINO and the EurolactTB consortium group*

WHO WE ARE?

EurolactTB is a consortium of scientists that joins efforts between Europe and Latin America to fight against tuberculosis.

AIM

The consortium is aimed at promoting and strengthening research collaborations between European and Latin American scientists in the area of poverty-related and infectious diseases with initial emphasis on tuberculosis.

OBJECTIVES

- Promoting and strengthening research collaborations between European and Latin American scientists
- Contribute to the creation of the European-Latin American Knowledge Area
- Perform research and conduct studies in the area of poverty-related diseases and infectious diseases with special reference to tuberculosis
- Promote innovation and technological development in the area of infectious diseases
- Organize training and dissemination activities in the area of science, technology and innovation

Our Team

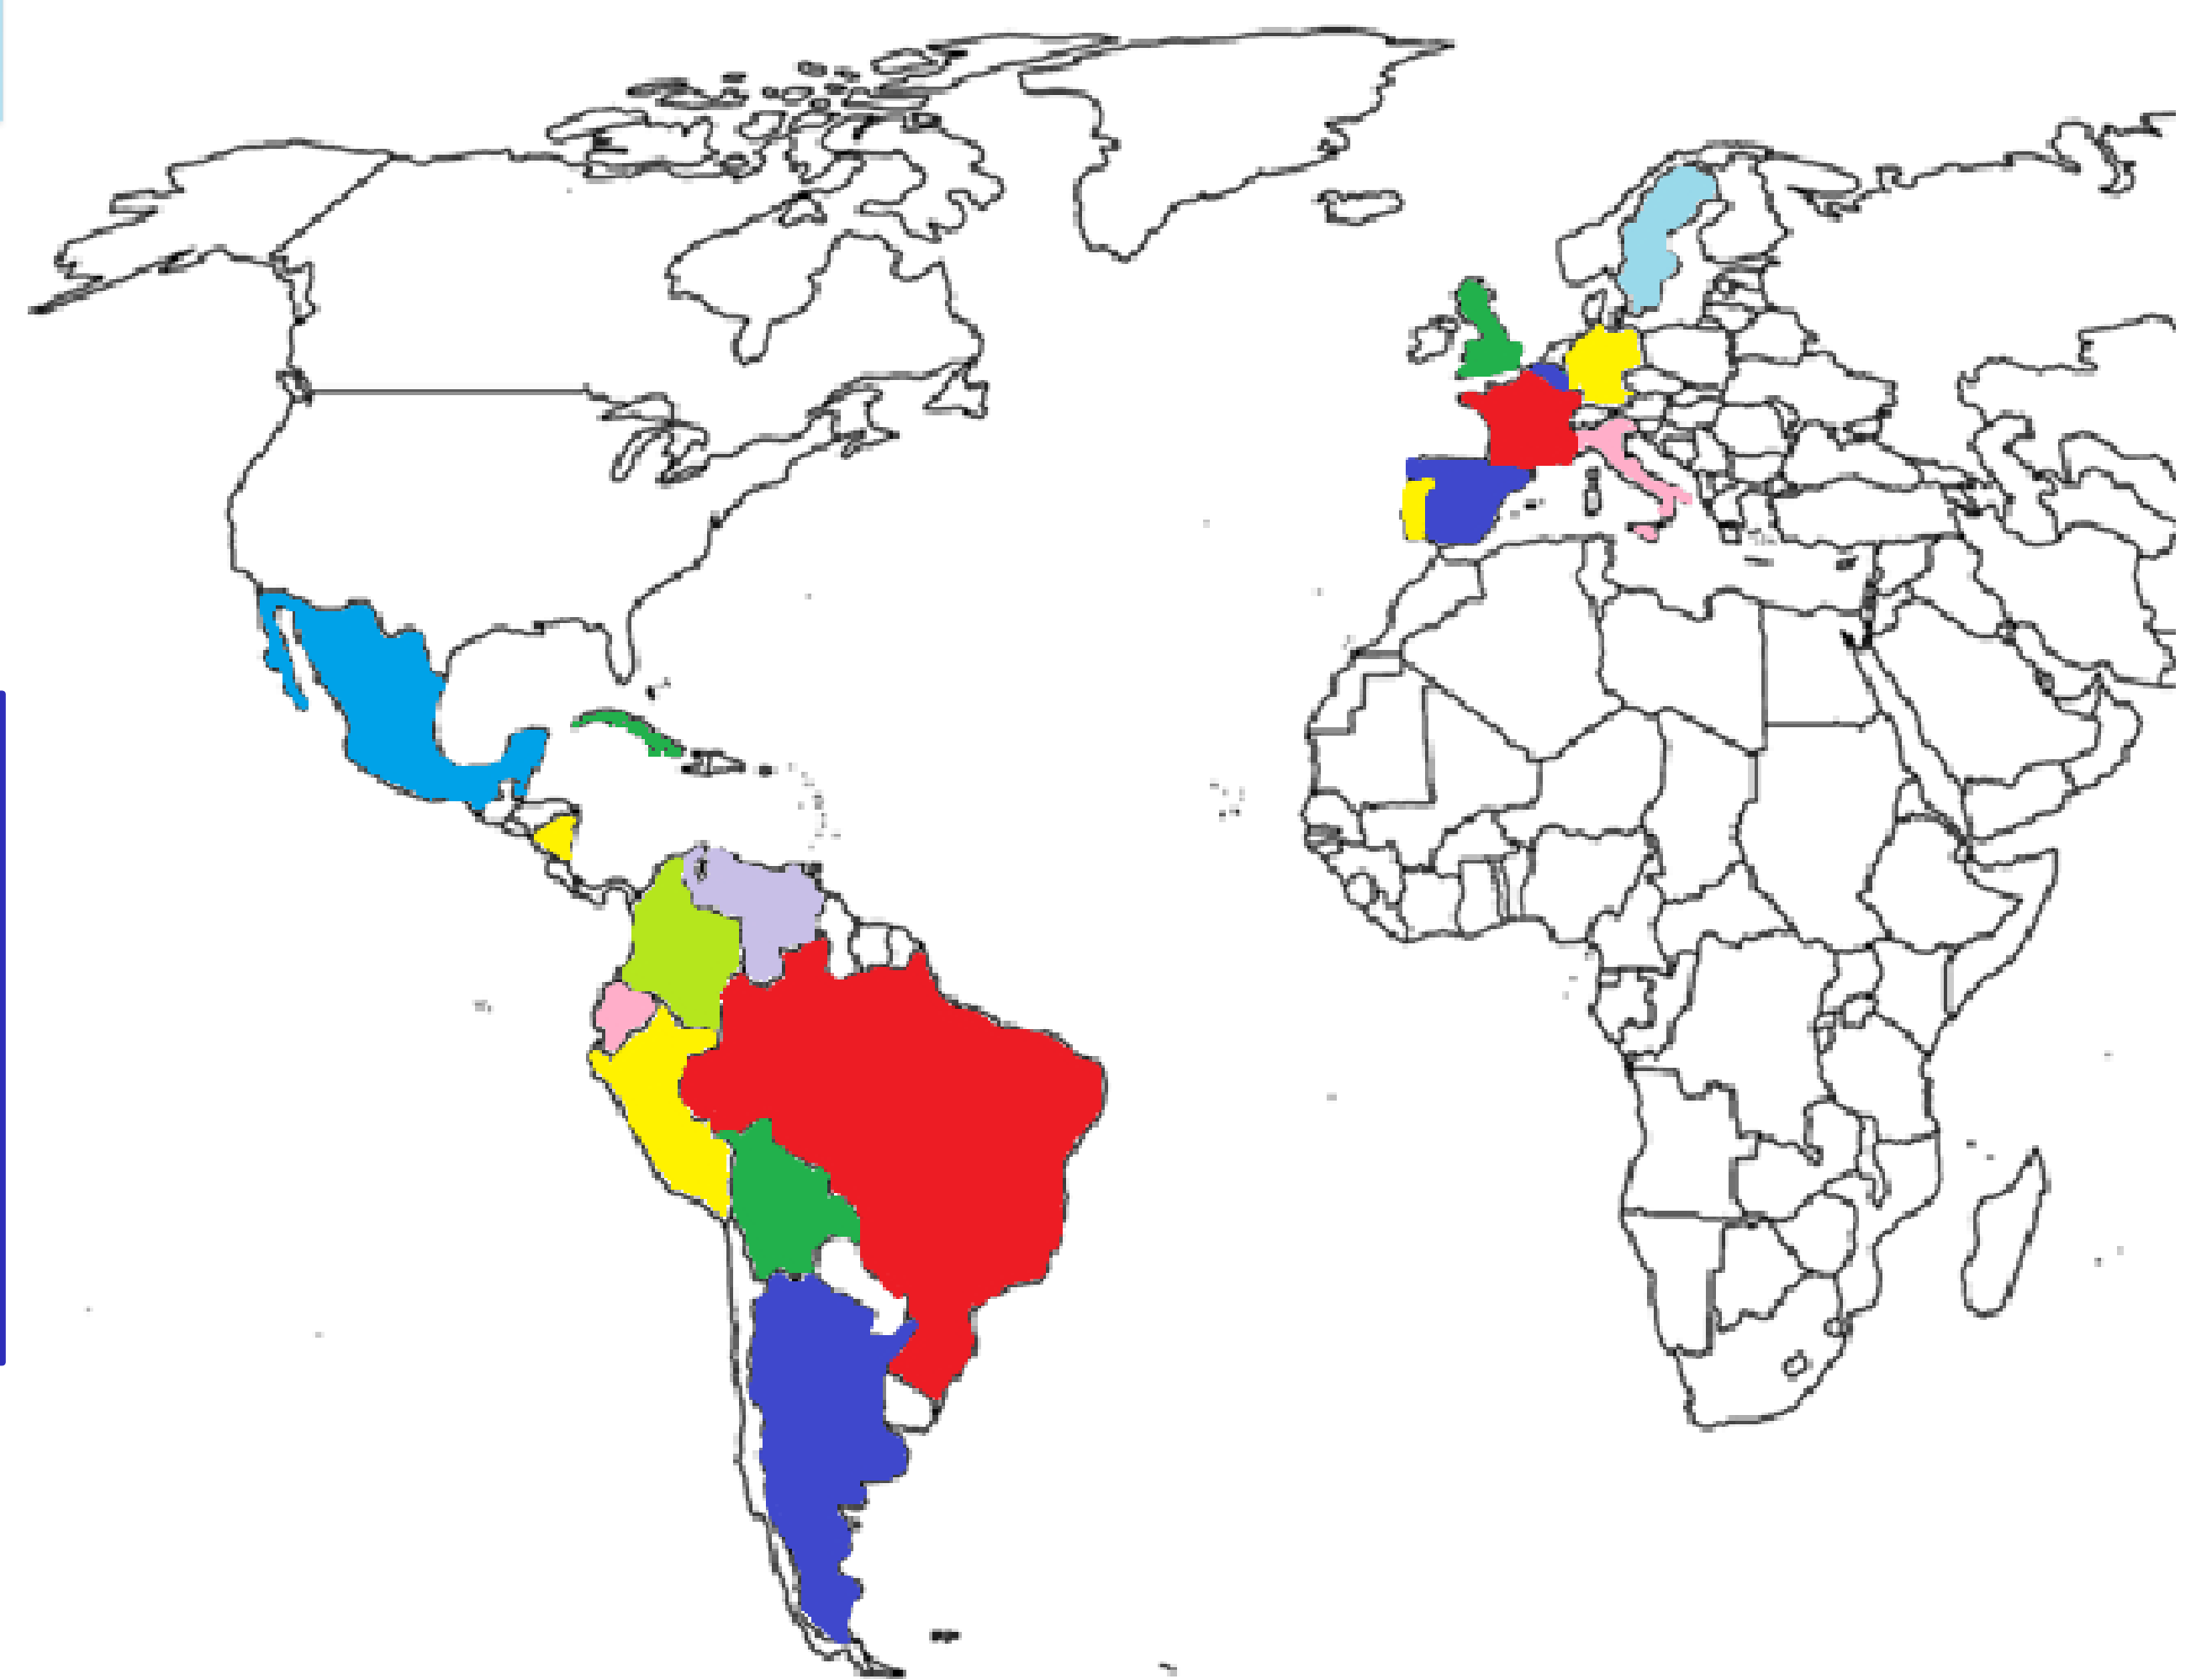

Dr. Juan Carlos PALOMINO: Director

Dr. Maria Jesus GARCIA: Co-Director

Dr. Anandi MARTIN: Executive Secretary

Countries participating

Belgium | France | Germany | Italy | Portugal | Spain |
Sweden | UK | Argentina | Brazil | Bolivia | Colombia |
Cuba | Ecuador | Mexico | Nicaragua | Peru | Venezuela

*<http://eurolactb.strikingly.com/>

Contact: eurolactb@gmail.com

Follow us on @eurolactb 